Corridor Clutter

- “The distinguishing characteristic of suburban strips is their undisguised ugliness, although traffic congestion runs a close second.”
- This ugliness must be eradicated if suburban retail is to remain competitive and successful in the future.”
- Source: ULI. Ten Principles for Reinventing America’s Suburban Strips, 2004

Public Art

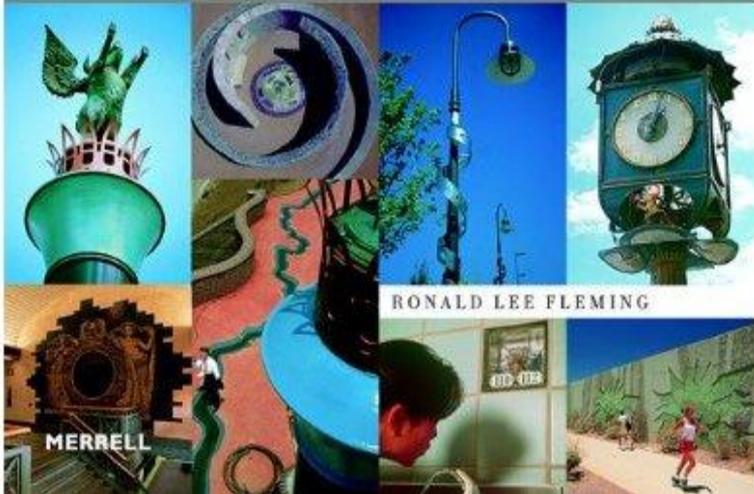

Public Art Comes in All Sizes and Styles

Placemaking Public Art

The Art of Placemaking

*Interpreting Community Through Public Art
and Urban Design*

- Placemaking public art is art that that relates to local history, culture , geography, folklore or tradition.
- It is art that helps people understand where they are.
- It is not art dropped from outer space.
