Our region is growing at an astounding rate, and we need leaders who understand both the development process and the regional framework in which our commercial real estate community operates. The ULI North Texas Center for Leadership (CFL) is designed to help build tomorrow’s community leaders who are dedicated to the ULI mission of responsible land-use and creating and sustaining thriving communities. By providing a series of seven full-day sessions led by outstanding professionals in public and private sector roles in the DFW region, the CFL offers class members insight into various market sectors, broadening their perspectives on current issues and opportunities that are prevalent to North Texas.
