

Marianne Wanamaker

Associate Professor of Economics,
University of Tennessee
Former Chief Domestic Economist,
Council of Economic Advisers

Marianne Wanamaker is an associate professor of economics, a research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research, and a research fellow at the Institute of Labor Economics (IZA). She serves as co-editor of Explorations in Economic History and is the former US Chief Economist at the White House Council of Economic Advisors, where she also served as the White House's senior labor economist. She is an outside advisor to several private companies and a representative to the Global Partnership on Artificial intelligence. Dr. Wanamaker holds a PhD from Northwestern University and a BA from Vanderbilt University.