

TIM ANDERSON

CEO & Founder | Focus

Tim Anderson is the CEO and Founder of Focus where he has provided strategic leadership for the company since 1993. As an industry visionary dedicated to quality design and craftsmanship, Tim founded Focus with the goal to create a different kind of development company. His vision, built on a commitment to creative design and construction expertise, also emphasizes the importance of company culture and the professional growth of all team members through collaboration and effective communication.

Focus, a Chicago based real estate firm, operates an integrated delivery model for development and construction and specializes in mixed-use multifamily, office and student housing developments. Experienced in both suburban and urban settings, Tim built Focus on the principal that the unique needs of each community should drive the design and development of its real estate, respecting the context and culture that was there before we arrived.