

Josh Udelhofen

Senior Vice President | Trammell Crow Company

Josh Udelhofen is a Senior Vice President for Trammell Crow Company's Midwest operations. In this role, Josh oversees the firm's industrial development and investment initiatives in the Chicago region. He was previously based in St. Louis, where he was responsible for the sourcing, underwriting, and field execution activities in the St. Louis and Kansas City markets.

Prior to joining TCC, Josh held senior leadership positions with two St. Louis-based development firms, Altus Properties and The Koman Group. During his tenure at these well-respected firms, Josh oversaw the development of over $600MM in development across multiple product types. Notable achievements include the development of Missouri's first LEED Gold office building (Centene Plaza), the highest multifamily per-unit sales price (Arterra), and two St. Louis Development of the Year recognitions (Cupples 9 and 700 Market).
