

1 in 5 Canadian adults identify as having a disability and the need for accessibility in our communities continues to grow

Be at the forefront of Canada's accessibility movement with Rick Hansen Foundation Accessibility Certification™ (RHFAC) Training. Using a comprehensive national rating system, RHFAC rates the level of meaningful accessibility from the perspective of those with mobility, vision and hearing disabilities, and promotes increased access through the adoption of Universal Design principles.

This course teaches individuals how to use the RHFAC methodology to rate buildings on their level of meaningful access.

Why take RHFAC Training?

Learn to identify barriers people with disabilities face navigating the built environment

Discover how Universal Design principles can promote increased access

Be on the forefront of Canada's accessibility movement

Upon successful completion of RHFAC Training, students are eligible to take the RHFAC Professional exam, qualifying them for an RHFAC Professional designation and enabling them to conduct RHFAC ratings.

Ensuring the buildings where we live, work, learn and play are accessible is more important now than it's ever been. As organizations evolve to prioritize accessibility, they're seeking the expertise of RHFAC Professionals to guide them in creating spaces where everyone can thrive, regardless of ability. Become an RHFAC Professional and help build a world for everyone, everywhere.

You may be eligible for tuition funding. Find out more at RickHansen.com/tuition-grants.

Pass

1

Pass the RHFAC Training course

- If you meet the course pre-requisites, register directly with an educational institution offering the course.
- Successfully complete the course and final assignment.

2

Pass the RHFAC Professional Exam

- The RHFAC Professional exam is administered by CSA Group.
- You are eligible to take the exam within 12 months of successfully completing the RHFAC Training course.

Apply

3

Apply to RHF for your RHFAC Professional designation

Email your official transcript from the educational institute showing successful completion of RHFAC Training along with your official letter from CSA Group showing passing of the RHFAC Professional Exam to training@rickhansen.com.

Finalize

4

Finalize your RHFAC Professional designation

- a) Register as an RHFAC Professional on the RHFAC Registry, hosted by the CSA Group.
- b) Join the Accessibility Professional Network, and create your profile for the RHFAC Professional Directory.

5

Maintain your designation

- Maintain Accessibility Professional Network membership annually
- Meet mandatory requirements (8 CEUs per year and any required training)
- Follow RHFAC Professional Code of Ethics and Branding Guidelines.

To learn more about RHFAC Training or how to become an RHFAC Professional, please visit RickHansen.com/RHFAC or email training@rickhansen.com.