Support smart, responsible growth in Frederick County

Rowan Digital Infrastructure is seeking approval for a limited expansion of its existing Bauxite campus on long-planned industrial land near Adamstown. The proposal builds on a site already designated for data center growth, while continuing Rowan's commitment to environmental responsibility, local investment, and transparent community engagement. Join ULI in supporting sensible growth in Maryland!

PLANNED INVESTMENT	FULL-TIME JOBS	ADDITIONAL BUILDINGS

WHY THIS PROJECT MATTERS

- Builds where growth was planned. The sites are within the former Alcoa smelting property and an existing master-planned industrial framework.
- Extends an existing campus. This is a limited expansion, not a new speculative proposal on previously undeveloped land.
- Meets applicable requirements. The projects remain subject to the county's site-plan process and all applicable permitting and regulatory reviews.
- Delivers local value. The proposal adds investment and long-term jobs while building on Rowan's partnerships across housing, education, workforce development, STEM and public safety.
- Continues responsible development. Project plans include environmental safeguards, forest protection, screening, sound mitigation and continued community engagement.
