

Matt Kolec – Senior Development Manager, Intracorp Homes

As my career has progressed I've been able to look back and reflect on my past experiences and opportunities, and appreciate the importance of each in shaping me to where I am today. Through this reflection, it is quite notable that a large portion of my self development had occurred when others have helped me in my own journey.

UrbanPlan has allowed me to pay it forward. I took part in this experience in an effort to create new milestones for the students which were part of the program. It is my hope that this experience serves as one of the many learning experiences which will help to shape their futures in a positive way. After seeing how engaged the students were as a part of this educational program, I feel confident that this experience will serve exactly that; another touchpoint in their lives which will help in their personal development journey.