

For me personally, this program is set apart because of the intentional focus on connecting students with commercial real estate professionals and engaging students in site visits, panel events, conferences, and opportunities to expand our network and education in the field. I'm grateful for our diverse and successful cohort of scholars and the expansive ULI network we are now a part of. From my time breaking into the industry, I am more grateful for the real exposure I've had through my involvement in the Etkin Scholar Program. The Corridors of Opportunity event we went to with the City of Charlotte was really the first event that caused me to realize the level of detail and intention that this industry brings to communities across the globe. There is a lot to learn from everyone in the industry and I'm very excited to continue expanding my network. Special thank you to our direct leadership, Ariel and Jenae, for leading by example and showing what it means to remain positive and passionate while supporting those around you to the best of your ability.
