

Todd DeLong Bio

Todd DeLong, AICP, is the Assistant Director of Economic Development for the City of Charlotte, where he helps lead initiatives that support business growth, real estate development, and strategic public-private partnerships across the city. With more than two decades of experience in economic development, real estate economics, and urban planning, Todd has worked in both the public and private sectors evaluating development opportunities, structuring complex projects, and advancing policies that promote long-term economic growth.

Prior to joining the City of Charlotte, Todd provided real estate and economic advisory services to public and private clients nationwide, including local governments, developers, and institutional organizations. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Urban Studies from the College of Wooster and a Master of Science in Planning from Florida State University. Todd is an active member of the American Planning Association, Urban Land Institute, and International Economic Development Council.