

Senior Living Design Forum

MEET YOUR SPEAKERS

Jamie Goldman – Principal & Director of Marketing

KEPHART

303.832.4474 | jamiieg@kephart.com

With a passion for the home building industry, and over 20 years of experience in marketing and client relations, Jamie knows what it takes to create enduring client relationships. Her marketing savvy has led to KEPHART frequently being featured in industry publications, and the honor of being recognized with numerous design awards. Jamie shares her time and talents by participating in several industry organizations and can be found attending and speaking at local and national events including the NAHB's International Builders' Show.

Christian Fussy, AIA, LEED AP – Principal

Hord Coplan Macht

720.431.7750 | cfussy@HCM2.com

Christian has overseen and designed complex award-winning projects in Europe, North America, and South Africa. His extensive experience with senior living and care environments spans large-scale life plan communities (CCRC's), independent living, assisted living, skilled nursing, short-term rehab, and special care environments to free-standing active adult communities. As an advocate for health and wellness he brings insight to developers and design teams. His international experience founds his commitment to ensure culture, inclusivity and psychosocial needs are considered in every conversation and design outcome. Christian frequently presents at industry events. He is dedicated to consumer research and innovation of the active adult product type. Christian has been calling Colorado home for the past 20 years.

Jami S. Mohlenkamp, AIA – Principal

OZ

303.861.5704 | jmohlenkamp@ozarch.com

Jami leads the Older Adult practice and is passionate about creating spaces that elevate the daily living experience, aging in place, independence, and wellness of residents. His drive to improve the quality of design and environments is supported by a strong commitment to technical expertise in building design. Jami has worked on numerous projects from independent living to skilled care in his 18 years at OZ.

John Binder, AIA – Principal

KEPHART

303.832.4474 | johnb@kephart.com

Let's make it happen has always been John's approach to architecture. His can-do attitude combined with over 40 years of experience in the building industry has resulted in a multitude of success stories for clients, communities, and the team he leads. Not only has John crafted several projects into award-winning communities, he also designed the first LEED certified apartment building in the U.S., and the first LEED Platinum certified market-rate apartment community in Colorado.

John frequently speaks on a local and national level regarding sustainability and design, as well as his passion for creating alternative senior living solutions. His technical skill, leadership ability and hands on technique from design through construction make for happy clients and well-conceived buildings.

Nathan Rosemann, AIA, NCARB, LEED AP – Denver Studio Director & Vice President

Rosemann & Associates

303.261.8229 | nrosemann@rosemann.com

As Rosemann's Denver Studio Director and Vice President, Nathan Rosemann is involved in all phases of the design process through construction administration. He believes that collaborative and communicative teamwork in the design process is paramount to the success of the project, as every member of the team is highly critical to the ultimate client satisfaction.

Nathan's experience includes affordable and workforce housing, high-end residential, multifamily housing, senior housing, prefabricated multifamily housing, high performance building systems, renovations, and virtual integrated project delivery. He is highly self-motivated, disciplined with a rigorous design focus, and actively jumps into complex project challenges to find optimal solutions and save the project and owners time and money.