Breaking Down Silos: Duolingo for Developers, Designers,
Financiers, and Policymakers
March 13, 2025, 8:30 am – 10:00 am
Oxford Mills, 100 W Oxford Street, Philadelphia, PA 19122

About the Event

A developer, a policy maker, and a designer walk into a bar...think you've heard this one before? Join the ULI NEXT cohort as we pull back the curtain for a candid conversation about how these disciplines could better communicate with one another—and the public—to get high-impact projects completed more successfully. Come for a discussion and robust Q&A between leaders with cross-disciplinary experience to learn about common misunderstandings, unhelpful jargon, what they've always wanted to say to their counterparts, and how to better speak each other's language. Networking time with fellow attendees will offer a chance to practice some of what you learn.
