

James Wong is the Chairman and CEO of the 2900+ person Chinney Group. The Group's four publicly listed Hong Kong subsidiaries: Hon Kwok Land (0160.hk), Chinney Investments (0216.hk), Chinney Alliance (0385.hk), and Chinney Kin Wing (1556.hk) are focused on high-tech Engineering and Real Estate. The businesses range from building their own 80-storey Hon Kwok Tower in Shenzhen to developing and operating Hong Kong's largest data center to building HK's first 100% solar panelled building to installing the air traffic control radar at the HK Airport.

After graduating from the University of Washington, he went on to earn a master's degree from the Florida Institute of Technology in Information Systems Engineering as well as a Juris Doctor from the University of California, Hastings College of Law.

Before joining his family business in 2010, James held positions variously as a lawyer at Toyota, PriceWaterhouse Coopers, and Baker McKenzie.

He has served previously as Treasurer of the Association of Corporate Counsel, as a member of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Committee for Jiangsu Province, Governor of the American Club of Hong Kong, Board of Trustees of FloridaTech (awarded 2018 Outstanding Alumni Award)

At the ULI, he has served as Global Governing Trustee, Chair of China GBA, and the Technology and Innovation Product Council.