8:02 – 9:00 AM: Innovations in Multi Family Construction 2.0: Leveraging Lessons Learned

The last 10 - 15 years have been an exciting time as industry innovators have worked hard to harness new construction technologies aimed at lowering costs, shortening schedules, increasing quality and reliability while also embracing sustainability. With a generation of homes built and seasoned utilizing CLT, modular and other prefab technology, a new wave of innovation and refinement is taking place. Practitioners in the field, who have been involved in these early explorations and continue to help shape the next generation of construction innovations, will share lessons learned and what is on the horizon, along with advice on how to best position a development to take advantage of these innovations.
