

ALAN PULLMAN, AIA

Founding Principal

Alan Pullman, AIA, is Senior Principal and Founder of Studio One Eleven, helping lead the design and integration of the firm's architecture and urban design work. He is a licensed architect with over 30 years of experience working with cities, communities and private interests to improve the quality of our urban environment.

Alan is responsible for guiding Studio One Eleven's overall strategy, as well as leadership on select projects. Completed architectural/development projects include The Bloc, a complete revitalization of one of Downtown LA's largest mixed-use projects, and Courtyard Lofts, both winners of numerous awards. Other notable projects include revitalizations along Fourth Street in Long Beach and the La Brea District in Los Angeles, and the Domain and The Lot Entertainment and Media Center, both mixed-use developments that are revitalizing a stretch of Santa Monica Boulevard in West Hollywood. In addition to planning and design, Studio One Eleven has also initiated and co-developed both the East Village Creative Offices at 4th and Linden and The Streets, a renovation of obsolete retail buildings into a vibrant downtown mixed-use precinct in Downtown Long Beach.
