

Mathew Chaney

Partner

EYRC Architects

Mathew Chaney is a Partner at Ehrlich Yanai Rhee Chaney Architects, recipient of the prestigious 2015 AIA National Architecture Firm Award. Mathew has served as Principal-in-Charge for some of the firm's largest and most complex projects, including the in progress $500m UC San Diego Theatre District Living and Learning

Neighborhood and the recently completed Pendry Hotel + Residences in West Hollywood. Mathew is a recognized thought leader in alternative delivery methods throughout the A/E/C industry and lectures frequently on Design/Build and Integrated Project delivery across the country. Mathew shares leadership of the firm's Commercial and Institutional studios with partner Patricia Rhee.

Prior to joining EYRC Architects in 2002, Mathew's resume includes 3 years at Walt Disney Imagineering as one of the lead creatives on the "Soarin' over California" Ride/Film at the Disney's California Adventure park in Anaheim, CA, and as a co-founder of an experimental digital design and fabrication collaborative "Telemachus Studio." Mathew's passion for incorporating the latest technology in project design and delivery ensures that EYRC Architects is on the cutting-edge of the profession.