

Amy Pokawatana

VP of Development Design
Hudson Pacific Properties

Amy Pokawatana serves as the Vice President of Development Design at Hudson Pacific Properties and oversees the development, design and construction of multiple commercial office buildings ranging from redevelopment to new construction across the West Coast. Ms. Pokawatana has over 20 years of architecture and construction experience. She is an active ULI member on the local and national level and previously served as the Vice Chair of the Urban Development Mixed Use National Product Council.