

Erik Maroney, M.S., P.E.

Director of Innovation Investments,
Partnerships, & Social Impact
Hudson Pacific Properties

Four years of working experience as an Environmental Engineer for both FedEx Express and the International Energy Agency. I specialize in developing software tools to estimate customer's environmental footprint, sustainable reporting, and technical compliance for environmental regulations - international and domestic.

I aim to drive innovation through sustainable thinking and design - especially through the various stakeholder lens' such as the environment, economic and political landscape, and equity/social justice.