

Garrett Lee is the President of Jamison Properties, one of the most active multifamily real estate developers in Southern California. Since Garrett took the helm ten years ago, the company has completed over 6,500 new apartment units, including 250 affordable units, through ground up construction and adaptive reuse conversions of office to residential. Garrett also oversees Jamison's general contracting firms that have built the majority of its development portfolio.

Garrett is a Los Angeles native. He attended Harvard-Westlake and went on to earn a BA from USC School of Cinematic Arts and a JD from USC Gould School of Law. Since 2016, Garrett has served on the board of the Korean American Coalition, a nonprofit organization that promotes the civic and civil rights interests of the Korean American community.
