Taylor Mammen is Chief Executive Officer of RCLCO Fund Advisors (RFA) and Co-CEO of RCLCO, responsible for company strategy, growth, and client relationship management.

Taylor advises institutional investors globally on all aspects of their complex real estate investment portfolios, from strategy development to underwriting and asset management. Over the past decade, he has helped grow RFA from a start-up with one client to a thought leader in institutional real estate investing with over $130 billion in assets under advisement.

Before helping to build RFA, Taylor managed management consulting and market research assignments at RCLCO. Prior to joining RCLCO, he worked for the Boston Redevelopment Authority and began his professional life at a government relations consulting firm in Washington, D.C.

Taylor received a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from Brigham Young University and his Master's in City Planning from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is an active member of the Urban Land Institute, the Pension Real Estate Association, and is on the Advisory Board for Envision Utah.
