

Post-Pandemic Retail: Road to Recovery

Thursday, January 14, 2021 | 11:00AM - 12:00PM CST | Zoom

COVID-19 dealt North American retail a serious blow — accelerating trends already in progress and initiating others. Who are the winners and losers and what are the myths and realities of retail in the "post-pandemic era"? What do industry experts see ahead? Join ULI for a webinar moderated by Richard Peiser, Professor at Harvard's GSD, on the state of retail in North America as we head into 2021. Our panel of experts will cover the impact of COVID-19, the role of omni-channel retailing, the repurposing of malls and the REIT and CMBS markets, among other topics.

Article: Confronting COVID-19 - The Rising Imperative of Integrating Health and Social Equity into Development

The COVID-19 pandemic and protests for racial justice have spurred the real estate community to more fully factor health and social equity into all aspects of urban planning, design, and development, according to participants in a webinar hosted in mid-November by ULI. The event focused on two new ULI publications, Health and Social Equity in Real Estate: State of the Market, from the ULI Building Healthy Places Initiative, and Health and Social Equity in Real Estate: Examples from the Field, from ULI's Greenprint Center for Building Performance.
