EDUCATING TOMORROW'S VOTERS, NEIGHBORS, COMMUNITY LEADERS, & LAND USE PROFESSIONALS

UrbanPlan (UP) is a project-based learning curriculum unit for high schools, universities, public agencies, and non-profit organizations. Bringing together disciplines such as economics, city government, real estate, and urban planning, UrbanPlan engages students, elected or appointed officials, and community members to consider the myriad complex decisions that shape our built environment.

UrbanPlan North Florida began at Nease High School in St. Johns County and has expanded to Episcopal, Bolles and Bishop Kenny, Maclay and Riverside high schools as well as FSU and FAMU.

What students are saying...

“During my participation in the UrbanPlan project, I had a great opportunity to apply various leadership skills, learn from others, and apply my personal strengths to my work while in a group to simulate a real-world land-use scenario. I was invested and I really enjoyed the UrbanPlan project.”
