

TAYLOR ASHTON
CEO | Ashton 3, LLC

My brothers and I started a residential development company in Orange County, CA called Ashton 3. After working for several privately held and publicly traded homebuilding companies, we decided to venture out on our own as we realized that we all have a unique set of skills to not only raise capital to purchase the properties, but to also entitle and build them out as well. With our collective knowledge of the homebuilding industry and project management experience, we've created several communities across Northern & Southern California. Outside of Residential development, I am a USC enthusiast & Trojan Football Alumni. Fight on!
